

Our outstanding faculty represents a combined total of well over 75 years of teaching experience. All have advanced levels of academic achievement in their fields, and all currently have active performing careers.

Two members of our voice faculty specialize in teaching young singers correct and healthy vocal techniques, and one has experience working in vocal therapy.

Similarly, two of our piano teachers specialize in beginning piano lessons for the very young, and all three teach through all advanced levels of playing.

Our woodwinds teacher is a recognized music educator in the South Shore area, with numerous award-winning students to her credit.

Jazz "hits the spot" in our guitar teacher, but he also teaches classical guitar and music theory.

Organ performance and choral music, especially choral training for young singers using the tools of the Royal School of Church Music, are the specializations of the director of the Center for the Arts.

The Music Experience at the Center for the Arts is glowing and alive at St. Peter's by-the-Sea in Bay Shore. JOIN US for the time of your life!

Our goal is to provide the finest instruction available to students, young and old, in the various areas of the Arts.
